

My app is a class schedule viewer that targets students who wish to create a customized schedule. Its primary goal would be to display class schedules with various options like color coding, hiding classroom location, and notes. The secondary interface is to allow the user to add classes to the interface.